MAY, WITH BLOSSOMING FLOWERS AND WARMER (AND HOPEFULLY MORE FREQUENT!) SUNNY DAYS, BRINGS A SENSE OF RENEWAL TO OUR LIVES.

We have an awesome lineup for you this month!

So excited to share the story of your top producing colleague Shelley Zavitz. Driven by a desire to serve a niche community and make a meaningful impact, Shelley found exactly what she was looking for when she launched her career in real estate.

For our Preferred Partner Spotlights, we feature our own Michelle Stevens of Artistique Photographie - whom so many of you already know. Michelle has been shooting our Covers since the inception of Real Producers 7 years ago! You'll learn more about her story and her incredible skill, here.

Also, you'll enjoy learning about this month's REALTOR® on the Rise, Alex Cole Juer. Hers was a journey fueled by passion and a desire for new challenges.

Did you attend our April event? You missed a really fun one, if not! You'll see a recap with photos in the pages ahead. Stay tuned for an invite to our summer one. As always, you'll find the latest Top 300 Standings (Jan-March) here, too!

Cheers,

Tiffany Larsson, Editor-in-Chief

SHELLEY

ZAVITZ DWELL REALTY

A Real Estate Career of Passion and Purpose

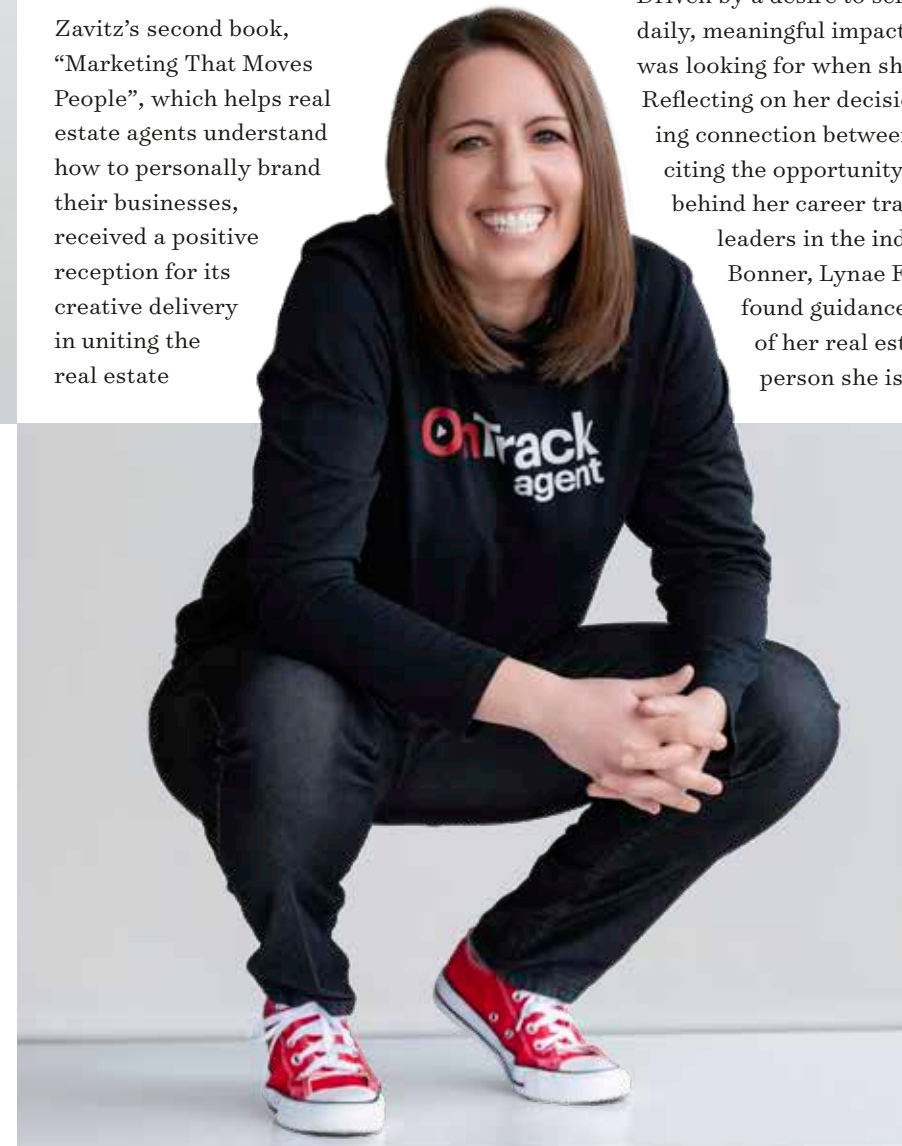

In the dynamic world of real estate, success stories often stem from unconventional beginnings and a deep-seated passion for change. Shelley Zavitz, a licensed real estate agent, epitomizes this narrative with her remarkable journey from broadcasting to becoming a revered figure in the Portland real estate scene. While the real estate industry influences can be very loud and chaotic, Zavitz continuously creates a measure of simplicity that is most noted in her books. Shelley's best-selling book on Amazon, Your First 365 Days in Real Estate, has been hailed "one of the most important pieces of writing for new real estate agents in modern times" by critics.

Zavitz's second book, "Marketing That Moves People", which helps real estate agents understand how to personally brand their businesses, received a positive reception for its creative delivery in uniting the real estate industry with the music industry. Both books were published by Harriman House Publishing and were nominated for Best Audiobook Narration by Natalie Stanfield in the Business and Education category by the S.O.V.A.S Awards in 2019 and 2022 respectively.

Moving from Canada to the United States, Shelley became licensed in 2015, marking a pivotal shift from an illustrious career in broadcasting. For 15 years, Shelley honed her creative skills as the Creative and Production Director for Canadian radio stations in Vancouver and Whistler, garnering national and international acclaim and awards for her exceptional writing talents.

Driven by a desire to serve a niche community and make a daily, meaningful impact, Shelley found exactly what she was looking for when she launched her career in real estate. Reflecting on her decision, Shelley emphasizes the interesting connection between her past and present professions, citing the opportunity to serve others as the driving force behind her career transition. Mentored by talented, local leaders in the industry such as Val Thorpe, Chris Bonner, Lynae Forbes, and Tammy Wittren, Shelley found guidance and inspiration in the early stages of her real estate journey, shaping her into the person she is today.

For Shelley, the most rewarding aspect of her real estate career lies in the relationships she fosters with her clients and colleagues. Built on a foundation of trust, empathy, and shared values, Shelley's business thrives on the bonds she's created within the City of Portland. Guiding clients through the intricate process of buying or selling a home, Shelley takes pride in shouldering their burdens and leading through honest stewardship.

While on tour for her first book, Shelley began to see and acknowledge the challenges inherent in the industry on a broader scale. Chief among them is the quest for reliable training and save them time and money. Both programs were awarded the Newsmaker Award by RIS Media. Zavitz also received a nod on the watch list of the 2024 Swanepoel Power 200 (SP 200), which ranks the most powerful and influential executives in residential real estate.

Not surprisingly, the practice of shattering what is possible is not just confined to Shelley's professional life. An avid adventurer, Shelley embarked on a once-in-a-lifetime expedition of the Annapurna Circuit in Nepal alongside 7 close friends in 2023. They trekked over Thorong La Pass, one of the tallest mountain passes accessible on foot in the world at 17,700 feet. That elevation is actually higher than the base camp of Mount Everest! Over 12 days they trekked 95 miles, climbed 33,000 feet of elevation gain, and 19,000 feet of descent.

Shelley's varied talents include music (she's played the guitar since she was 9 years old), woodworking, and poetry, which she finds very relaxing and stress-relieving. She recently finished a children's story titled, "Mighty Mable Macklemay" about a young girl who is an introvert and the difficulties she has in understanding an extroverted world. Janice Stouffer illustrated the book and Mighty Mable is available on Amazon.

and actionable advice to further support real estate agents in their service of their clients. With an abundance of coaching programs and podcasts saturating the market, Shelley began to create avenues that emphasize to real estate agents the importance of discernment and seeking wisdom from skilled professionals who lead by example in the field.

To build on this, Shelley first founded New Agent 365, a non-brokerage affiliated, on-demand course for new real estate agents that was the first of its kind. Afterwards, she created OnTrack Agent which is designed to be a hub of many different trainers nationwide. Real estate agents can gain access to vetted trainers for traditional monthly coaching calls or group coaching to accelerate their growth

Shelley imparts invaluable wisdom to aspiring top producers in the industry. She emphasizes the importance of accountability, continuous learning, and resilience in the face of failure. Her diverse talents underscore her multifaceted approach to life and business, inspiring others to pursue their passions beyond the confines of their professional roles.

Shelley Zavitz's journey embodies the transformative power of passion, perseverance, and purpose. Through her dedication to serving others in the real estate industry and beyond, Shelley has bridged communities, changed lives, and inspired countless individuals to pursue their dreams with unwavering determination. As she continues to make a profound impact in the real estate landscape locally and nationwide, Shelley's legacy serves as a testament to the enduring power of human connection and the pursuit of excellence above all else.

MICHELLE STEVENS

ARTISTIQUE PHOTOGRAPHIE

THE PHOTOGRAPHER CAPTURING YOUR AUTHENTICITY

▶▶ partner spotlight

In the world of professional photography, few possess the keen eye, technical knowledge, and genuine care for their clients quite like Michelle Stevens of Artistique Photographie. With a background as diverse and rich as her portfolio, Michelle has carved out a niche for herself in Portland's photography scene, setting the standard for excellence and authenticity.

As a valued partner of Portland Real Producers, Michelle has played an integral role in shaping the publication's identity. She has captured the essence of Portland's top real estate agents on over 70 of our magazine's beautiful covers. Her ability to forge lasting relationships speaks volumes about her character, with many clients evolving into good friends.

Born in England, Michelle's professional journey is as fascinating as the images she captures. Her passion ignited at a young age, Michelle pursued formal education in commercial photography, eventually earning her Master of Photography degree from the Professional Photographers of America. She opened her first storefront studio at age 18 just outside Minneapolis MN. Then, after moving to Oregon in 1993, she opened a new studio in the Eugene area. In 2005, she established Artistique Photographie in Portland, and quickly became one of the city's most sought after wedding photographers. Her work has garnered international acclaim, earning her prestigious accolades such as the Kodak Gallery Award and Fuji Masterpiece Awards.

In the world of photography, versatility and adaptability are key to staying relevant and successful. Michelle knows this all too well. What began as a focus on weddings has evolved into a specialized service catering to business professionals in need of captivating head-shots and branding photos. Michelle doesn't merely snap pictures; she crafts visual narratives that authentically represent her clients' identities and tell their unique stories. In an era dominated by AI and digital manipulation, she remains steadfast in her conviction that authenticity resonates most profoundly.

In her pre-shoot consultations, she likes to get a feel for each person's personality, brand identity, and the ideal client they are marketing to. This helps form the direction for the photo shoot, ensuring the outcome is exactly what the client visualizes. In her own words, "Getting new professional branding photos can be overwhelming, which is why I offer start to finish support through the whole process. From wardrobe selection, to choosing a location, to on site hair and makeup services, to a relaxing and fun shoot through the final photo selection process, my goal is to make it all easy and seamless."

Yet, Michelle's talents extend far beyond corporate branding and real estate. Through her separate venture, Mademoiselle's Boudoir, she celebrates the beauty of every client, crafting exquisite boudoir albums that brings confidence and empowerment to women. She says, "All women deserve to look and feel amazing! The boudoir photography experience leaves you feeling a new sense of confidence. Often clients see their own real beauty for the first time". Her boudoir clients come to her for many milestone occasions, including weddings, anniversaries, celebration of birthdays and weight loss. Some of her most fulfilling client experiences have been with capturing breast cancer patients, both before surgery and after recovery.

In an ever-changing industry, Michelle Stevens has found a niche and excelled. Her commitment to providing personalized, high-quality photography services has earned her a reputation as a trusted partner for businesses and professionals alike. As her business continues to grow, one thing remains constant: her dedication to capturing the success of her clients, one photo shoot at a time.

In her spare time, Michelle enjoys the simple pleasures of life: baking, camping, kayaking, playing tennis, and wine tasting with friends. She cherishes time with her beloved rescue greyhound, Bentley. Creating a work-life balance is always challenging for a small business owner, but she believes that a fun personal life away from the camera makes her better in her business.

ALEX COLE JUER

WINDERMERE

From Classrooms to Closings:

Inside Alex Cole Juer's Transition to REALTOR®

Photographer: Danny Osterweil, founder of Brite Room Photography

Transitioning from the classroom to the world of real estate may seem like a leap, but for Alex Cole Juer, it was a journey fueled by passion and a desire for new challenges. In this Q&A article, an educator turned REALTOR®, Alex shares her insights into her unconventional career path, the mentors who inspired her, and the joys and challenges of guiding clients through the intricacies of home buying. Join us as we delve into the dynamic world of real estate with someone whose dedication to education and community shines through in every aspect of her work.

When did you start your career in real estate?

I got my license in 2021 while I was still teaching middle school. I used the time before I quit teaching (June of 2022) to get acquainted with the business by getting to know colleagues and taking classes.

What did you do before you became a REALTOR®? Did you have a mentor or someone that helped lead the way?

Before venturing into real estate, I was a middle school math and social studies teacher. I enjoyed my life as an educator for twelve years before I decided to get my real estate license.

I grew up with parents who believed in sweat equity, so we were always living in a remodel or searching for the next house. Throughout their many transactions, and eventually my own, my family became close with our REALTOR®, Aimee Virnig. She has always been a knowledgeable resource, a strong advocate for us as her clients, and also a really good time. When I was considering making the career switch, she cautioned me with realities but encouraged me to take the leap. The business that she built for herself is an inspiration to me. I knew I would do well in this business if I emulated her authenticity and enthusiasm.

What's your favorite part of being a REALTOR®? / What has become the most rewarding part of your business?

As an educator, I have especially enjoyed working with first-time buyers individually, in a setting where I can give clients my undivided attention. In the classroom, I would see roughly 150 students in a day. Buying a home is a big financial and emotional step that can feel overwhelming, especially for people who have not done it before. I have enjoyed educating my clients about the home-buying process so that they feel empowered and confident as they make this big investment in their future.

What is your BIGGEST challenge as a REALTOR®?

Switching gears into a new profession has a big learning curve! I thought I knew a lot about what goes into a real estate transaction, but I quickly found out that I still had a lot to learn.

Alex worked with first time home buyers to purchase this 1960s Rummer in 2023.

As a teacher I felt like a broken record, constantly telling my students not to be afraid to ask questions. Not to be embarrassed by not knowing but to do the research and use their resources. As a new agent, I had to follow my own advice. I know that if I surround myself with experienced agents and have a knowledgeable support team I will be able to find the answer to any situation that may arise. An agent is only as strong as their resources, and I have been fortunate to have developed relationships with an amazing group of people who support me in my business.

Are there any charities or organizations you support?

There are so many wonderful nonprofits here in Oregon and one especially close to my heart is the mission of Saint Andrew Nativity School. My connection to this special school began as a service project in high school and later when I served on their Ambassador Board. For those not familiar, Saint Andrew is a tuition-free Catholic Middle School dedicated to empowering and preparing students for college and careers. Through committed teachers, a rigorous curriculum and schedule, and community support, Saint Andrew graduates 8th graders who will experience success in high school and beyond. The best part is that the support offered to Nativity graduates does not stop at graduation – it stays with them into the beginning of their careers. Nativity counselors help to secure their students scholarships to Catholic high schools, navigate college admissions, financial aid, and scholarships, and apply to their first jobs. This school, and other Nativity schools across the country, have a big impact on the individual families and local communities that they serve. While their size limits their capacity for change, these schools are a fix for the root causes of educational disparity and not just a Band-Aid.

Tell us about your family. Any pets?

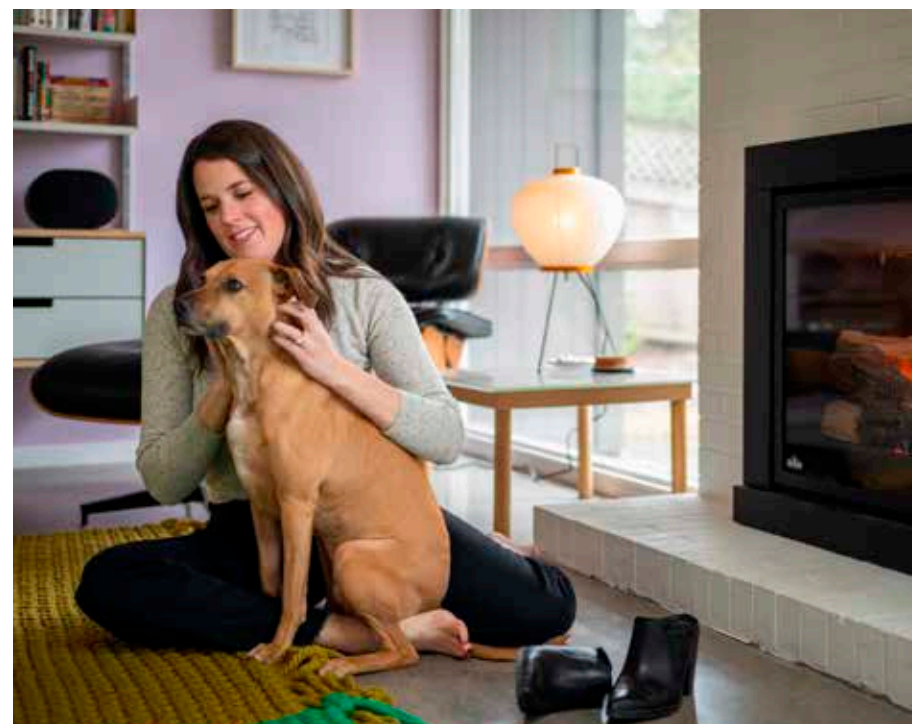

I live with my husband, Andrew, and our 40-pound lap dog, Lucy. We are currently working to expand our family via adoption. We are also about to purchase our fourth home in six years -- carrying on the family tradition of always looking for the next house adventure. We joke that our goal is to hit all of the Portland quadrants and suburbs -- so far, we have lived in Irvington, Camas, Forest Park, and now Beaverton. As someone who grew up on the inner East side, I find it fun and informative to get out of my comfort zone and try out new parts of the Portland Metro Area.

What are your hobbies and interests outside of the business?

As someone with my home-buying track record, I'd say real estate is my hobby... jokes aside, I enjoy skiing, dinner parties, playing board games, neighborhood walks, and any activity that brings friends and family together for a good time. People say I'm a connector.

Stay Inspired

REAL PRODUCERS SHARE THEIR INSIGHT

ALEX COLE JUER,
 Windermere Real Estate

It's important to stay moving -- momentum in this business is important, so doing anything to get out and stay busy will contribute to success. Going on broker tours, taking colleagues for coffee, connecting with a mentor, business planning, attending CE classes... all of these things keep your business, and yourself, from becoming stagnant. Even just attending a social event or fundraiser can connect you with people, and you never know where a connection may take you. I just got a referral for a listing because I taught someone at a wedding in Arkansas how to saber a bottle of champagne!

SHELLEY ZAVITZ,
 Dwell Realty

The most successful people that I've met on my journey in both media and real estate have three things in common. They are accountable. They are students of their craft. When one skill is learned, they look to elevate even further. They give themselves grace in moments of failure, and then immediately try again.

importance of creating landscapes that not only enhance a property's visual appeal but also add value and charm.

Established in 1989, All Oregon Landscaping boasts a team of seasoned professionals with unparalleled landscape design and installation expertise. With over 100 years of combined experience, their design and project management team possesses the skills and vision to bring even the most ambitious landscaping projects to life. Whether it's a relatively simple landscape refresh or a complex complete outdoor overhaul, their dedicated staff of over 25 individuals is equipped to handle projects of any size or complexity.

At All Oregon Landscaping, they understand that a well-designed landscape should be an extension of indoor living spaces—a seamless blend of texture, color, contour, and flow. That's why their designers work closely with clients to ensure that every design aspect reflects their unique vision and lifestyle. From the initial consultation to the final installation, they prioritize clear communication and collaboration to ensure their client's expectations are met and exceeded.

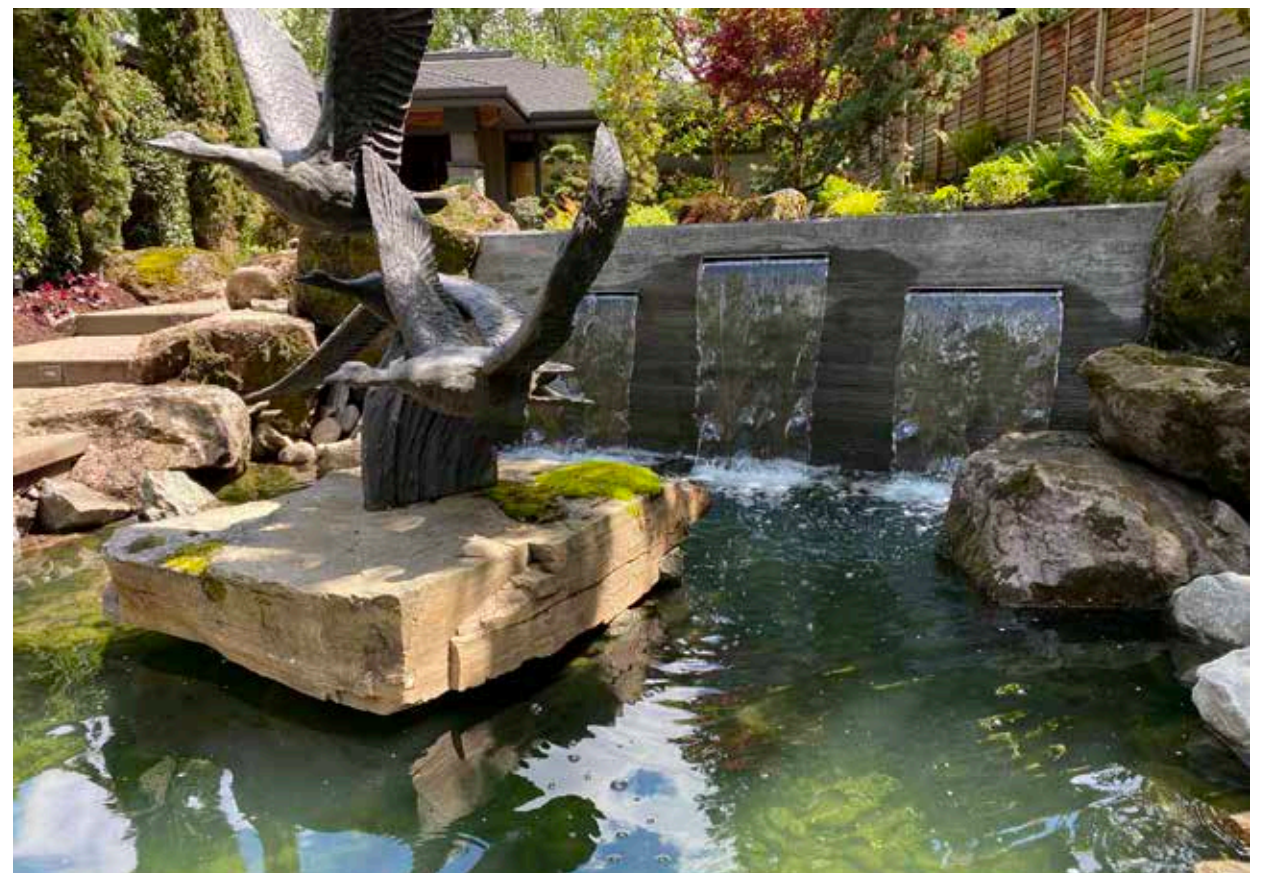

Leading the charge at All Oregon Landscaping is Craig Prunty, whose passion for landscaping spans over three decades. Craig built the business on the foundation of talented designers and skilled project managers, firmly believing that "You're only as good as your employees."

WITH CONFIDENCE

When a need or desire to enhance outdoor spaces arises, as agents, you are very often looked to as a referral source for your clients. As a family-owned business with a long-standing reputation for excellence, All Oregon Landscaping brings a wealth of experience and expertise to the table. With a deep-rooted passion for crafting outdoor environments that captivate and inspire, they understand the Alongside Craig is his brother Tony Prunty, the Vice President, whose expertise in turning design plans into reality is unmatched. Together, they oversee every aspect of the business to help ensure a seamless experience for clients from concept to completion.

A comprehensive approach to landscaping sets All Oregon Landscaping apart. Their team produces a comprehensive roadmap for each project, from conceptual designs to construction details, 3D renderings, and final site plans. With their experienced construction crews handling everything from masonry and outdoor kitchens to irrigation and plant installation, clients can rest assured that their project is in capable hands.

Another element that sets All Oregon Landscaping apart is its private nursery, which is stocked with over 8,000 different plants on 21 acres. This gives them the resources to control quality and reduce costs for our clients—a benefit that few other landscaping companies can offer.

All Oregon Landscaping is highly referred by Realtors looking to help their clients elevate their listings in preparation for sale or as the company to beautify a client's purchase and make their outdoor living space exceptional. Their expertise, dedication to excellence, and commitment to customer satisfaction ensure that every outdoor space shines.
