CHEYENNE HARVEY

PUTTING RESULTS IN PLACE FOR TOMORROW

AARON PATTON
WRITTEN
DANIELSON

When Cheyenne Harvey decided to leave her successful career in sales and marketing, she wasn't just making a professional pivot—she was making a life-changing decision for her family and a commitment to doing business with authenticity, transparency, and honesty.

As a real estate agent with Elite Real Estate Experts, Cheyenne has built a thriving business in just a few years. Her journey from marketing manager to one of Wichita's most promising real estate professionals is a testament to her work ethic, adaptability, and genuine desire to help others.

A Deep Connection to Kansas

Born and raised in Kansas, Cheyenne's roots in the community run deep. She has lived in over 28 different homes throughout Kingman and Wichita in her lifetime, giving her firsthand experience in what it means to find the right home. This unique perspective allows her to empathize with her clients, understanding both the excitement and challenges that come with buying and selling real estate.

Cheyenne attended Wichita State University for college, where she was a dedicated member of the dance team. The discipline, teamwork, and drive she developed during her college years have carried over into her real estate career, fueling her commitment to excellence and client satisfaction.

A Bold Career Shift

Before entering real estate, Cheyenne worked as a sales and marketing manager for a manufacturing company specializing in pizza ovens. The role required extensive international travel, which became increasingly difficult after she had her first daughter. Wanting a career that allowed her to stay closer to home while still leveraging her business expertise, she turned to real estate—a field she had always been drawn to.

Her background in marketing and sales, along with administrative work for other real estate teams during college, provided the perfect foundation for success in the industry. However, her first year as an agent in March 2020 came with unique challenges. "It was a tough year, not just because I was new but also because of the uncertainty the world was facing with COVID," Cheyenne recalls. "It was a time of rapid change, and I had to adapt quickly."

Despite the challenges, she embraced the fast-paced market with authenticity and resilience, using her strong work ethic and transparency to build trust with clients. Her ability to communicate honestly and keep clients informed during uncertain times helped her establish a solid reputation in Wichita's real estate market.

A Passion for Helping People

For Cheyenne, real estate is more than transactions—it's about people. "I believe that honesty and transparency are the foundation of good business," she says. "My clients trust me to guide them through one of the most significant decisions of their lives, and I take that responsibility very seriously."

She customizes solutions for each client, whether they're first-time homebuyers, families upgrading to their dream homes, or investors looking for the right opportunity. By prioritizing clear communication and integrity, she ensures that every client feels confident and informed throughout the process.

Building a Legacy

Beyond closing deals, Cheyenne is driven by a deeper motivation—creating a legacy. "I want to build something meaningful, something that my children can be proud of," she explains. "I admire families who work together in business, and I want to create a foundation that my kids can choose to be a part of one day."

Her dedication has led to impressive results. In 2024 alone, she closed 40 transactions totaling $9.4 million in sales volume. Her success is a testament to her commitment to her clients and her ability to foster lasting relationships through honesty and professionalism.

Family and Fun

While her career is a major part of her life, Cheyenne's family remains her top priority. She and her husband, Alex, have two young children: six-year-old Palmer and three-year-old Luca. Their home is filled with energy and constant chaos, especially with their four dogs! The Harveys also share a love for golf and travel, making it a point to take a family trip at least once every quarter.

I WANT PEOPLE TO SEE ME AS SOMEONE WHO BRIGHTENS THEIR DAY AND BRINGS ENERGY TO THOSE AROUND ME. LIFE IS TOO SHORT NOT TO ENJOY THE JOURNEY!”

"I believe in making time for the things that truly matter," she says. "Balancing work and family isn't always easy, but I'm intentional about creating memories with my loved ones."

Giving Back to the Community

Cheyenne's commitment to authenticity and kindness extends beyond her business. Whether it's supporting local kids sports teams, volunteering with animal rescues, heading up the Event Committee in her neighborhood, running donation drives, or volunteering with the Ronald McDonald House - supporting families (and animals) in need and giving back to her community is an essential part of who she is.

A Positive Force

For those aspiring to enter the real estate industry, Cheyenne offers simple but powerful advice: "Be yourself. Find what makes you unique and build on it. Integrity and honesty will take you far. If you focus on the people rather than just the paycheck, success will follow."

She firmly believes that authenticity and a genuine desire to help others set the best agents apart. "People can tell when you truly care about their needs. If you focus on building relationships rather than just making sales, you'll create a reputation that lasts."

Cheyenne hopes to be remembered for the positivity she brings to others. "I want people to see me as someone who brightens their day and brings energy to those around me. Life is too short not to enjoy the journey!"

That energy and enthusiasm shine through in every aspect of her career. Whether she's working with clients, networking with fellow agents, or spending time with her family, Cheyenne approaches life with a contagious optimism that makes her stand out.

Looking Ahead

As she continues to grow in the real estate industry, Cheyenne remains focused on her long-term vision. She plans to expand her business, serve the Wichita community with integrity and passion, and build a legacy that her children can be proud of.

Arwa Armstrong

Leading Forward by Giving Back

WRITTEN BY DAVE DANIELSON

A true hallmark of leadership in the community is having the ability and willingness to lead forward by giving back.

For Arwa Armstrong, these qualities have defined her journey from Navy service member to accomplished real estate professional. As a team leader and partner at Heritage First Realty, Arwa has not only built a thriving career but also cultivated a brokerage that prioritizes relationships, mentorship, and community.

Finding Her Path in Real Estate

Arwa's path to real estate was anything but conventional. She had always been interested in the field, but her career began in the U.S. Navy. After serving her country, she found herself assisting family members with their home searches. These experiences planted the seed of a future in real estate.

For a time, she was a stay-at-home mom, balancing the demands of family life while contemplating her next move. Encouraged by those close to her who recognized her potential, she decided to take the leap. "Since we were already a one-income family, I decided to give it a shot," Arwa recalls. Little did she know that this decision would lead to a fulfilling and impactful career.

A Challenging Beginning

Like many new agents, Arwa faced significant challenges in her first year. She even considered walking away from the profession. The learning curve was steep, but she found guidance and support in her brokerage, working closely with her broker on a variety of transactions.

It was during this time that she met Bud and Sara Cortner, who recognized her potential. Their belief in her gave her the motivation to persevere. “I almost quit after a year,” she admits, “but having an amazing brokerage and supportive mentors made all the difference.”

The Dual Role: Serving Clients and Agents

Today, Arwa embraces a dual role at Heritage First Realty. On one hand, she is dedicated to her clients, guiding them through one of the most significant financial decisions of their lives. “I love helping my clients navigate through the process,” she says. “Some of the relationships I’ve built through real estate are bonds I never would have had otherwise.”

On the other hand, she finds immense fulfillment in mentoring fellow agents. At Heritage First Realty, agents aren’t recruited in the traditional sense—rather, they are nurtured and developed. “I enjoy talking with new agents and helping them set and reach their goals. Whether it’s onboarding new agents or assisting

“... And for the agents I work with, I want to see them SUCCEED and GROW. I’m here for them—not just as professionals, but as people.”

She firmly believes that success in real estate isn’t just about transactions; it’s about relationships. Her approach is simple yet powerful: be genuine, do your due diligence, and always strive to help others succeed.

A Legacy of Passion and Dedication

When asked how she hopes to be remembered, Arwa’s response is clear: she wants people to know that she is genuinely there for them. Whether she is working with clients, mentoring agents, or giving back to the community, her passion is rooted in making a difference.

seasoned professionals, I love helping them get where they want to be.”

As part of her commitment to professional growth, Arwa follows the principles of the Ninja Selling system, which emphasizes building quality relationships and focusing on a client-centered approach. “I highly recommend reading Ninja Selling,” she advises. “It’s all about relationships and having a great system.”

Family and Life Beyond Real Estate

While real estate is a significant part of her life, Arwa is just as committed to her family. She and her husband, Parker, have three children: Amira, Alexander, and Elliana. Their household is lively, filled with energy, and completed by their two beloved dogs, Lola and Ninja.

Arwa and her family are passionate about staying active. “We’re very into sports and love being outdoors,” she says. She even coaches her daughter’s volleyball team, a role she cherishes. When they’re not on the court or exploring the outdoors, the Armstrong family enjoys traveling, making the most of their time together.

Giving Back to the Community

Beyond her career and family, Arwa is dedicated to giving back. She and her family actively volunteer with the Humane Society, supporting efforts to care for and find homes for animals in need. Service is an integral part of who she is, both in her professional and personal life.

Advice for Aspiring Agents

For those considering a career in real estate, Arwa emphasizes authenticity and integrity. “Be yourself, find what makes you unique, and learn how to capitalize on it,” she advises. “Honesty and integrity will take you far, along with truly being in it for the people—not just the paycheck.”

“My goal is to help clients through their buying or selling process with care and diligence. And for the agents I work with, I want to see them succeed and grow. I’m here for them—not just as professionals, but as people.”

Arwa Armstrong continues to make an impact in the real estate industry through her leadership, mentorship, and passion, she is shaping the future of Heritage First Realty—one relationship at a time.

BUILDING A LEGACY

WRITTEN BY DAVE DANIELSON

When David Christie set out to carve his path in real estate, he wasn't just looking for a career—he was looking for a way to shape his own future while serving his community. With a background in construction and a lifelong commitment to hard work, David has quickly established himself as a trusted home inspector in Wichita, Kansas. Though he officially launched Professional Standard Home Inspection in May 2024, his journey to this career has been years in the making.

From Construction to Home Inspection

David spent 12 years working for Nowak Construction, where he installed water, sewer, and storm sewer main lines across Kansas. Before that, he spent a decade in the culinary world, even apprenticing under a chef in Tucson, Arizona. While both careers sharpened his skills in attention to detail and problem-solving, it wasn't until he discovered real estate investing that he found his true calling.

"By the time I was 34, I knew I wanted to create a path to more freedom in my life," David explains. "I started studying real estate investing and went to a real estate meetup I found on Bigger Pockets. I quickly realized that if I wanted to work with investors, agents, and other professionals, I needed to bring something valuable to the table. That's when I discovered home inspection and began my training."

Training and Expertise

David's commitment to excellence is evident in his extensive training and certifications. He holds a certification from the American Home Inspection Training (AHIT) program and is a Certified Professional Inspector with InterNACHI. He has also passed the NHIE National Home Inspectors Exam and completed specialized training in radon measurement, sewer scope inspections, and mold measurement.

"As of today, I've completed 20 home inspections," David shares. "I did 17 in 2024, and I know this is just the beginning of what I hope to accomplish."

A Passion for Community and Family

David's deep-rooted commitment to family is what drives him every day. Born in Provo, Utah, he moved frequently growing up but always found stability in hard work and perseverance. Today, his primary motivation is providing a better future for his wife, Alyson, and their two daughters, Evie (10) and Lilly (4).

“My daughters are my world,” David says. “Evie loves boba and sushi, and we enjoy building projects like mini figures and Lego sets. Lilly is all about dress-up and watching Avatar: The Last Airbender and Gabby’s Dollhouse. As a family, we love playing at the park, visiting the zoo, and trying new foods together.”

David and Alyson, a registered nurse at Ascension Via Christi’s wound clinic, share a passion for food and often experiment with new recipes. They also enjoy attending local concerts and community events with their children.

Building a Business with Integrity

While David is still in the early stages of his home inspection career, he has already gained recognition for his thorough and ethical approach. “I believe in providing honest services to prospective homebuyers and sellers,” he says. “Buying a home is one of the biggest decisions people make, and I want to help them feel confident in their investment.”

David credits Wichita’s vibrant real estate investment community for “Success is anything that brings you a sense of pride or accomplishment. For me, that means building a business that provides for my family and CONTRIBUTES POSITIVELY TO MY COMMUNITY.” supporting his business’s growth. “The local agents and investors here are incredibly driven,” he says. “Their motivation inspires me to push myself and provide the best service possible.”

Overcoming Challenges and Defining Success

David acknowledges that starting a new business comes with its fair share of challenges. “I’m still learning and growing as a business owner,” he admits. “But the biggest turning point in my life came when I was 26 and found out I was going to be a dad. That moment forced me to actively shape my life in a positive way, and it’s been my guiding principle ever since.”

For David, success isn’t just about financial gains—it’s about achieving personal fulfillment. “Success is anything that brings you a sense of pride or accomplishment,” he says. “For me, that means building a business that provides for my family and contributes positively to my community.”

Looking Ahead

David has big plans for the future. His goal is to continue growing his home inspection business while expanding into real estate investing. “I want to restore properties for the next generation of homeowners,” he explains. “Owning a home is a dream for many people, and I want to help make that dream a reality.”

When asked about advice for new real estate professionals, David emphasizes the importance of continuous learning. “The smartest person in the room is the one who knows how to best use their resources,” he says. “I don’t claim to know everything, but I do know how to seek out information and apply it effectively.”

The Man Behind the Business

Beyond work, David enjoys hunting, fishing, and playing disc golf. He’s also an avid traveler who prefers a relaxing mountain getaway over a bustling city escape.

A self-proclaimed lifelong learner, David is currently reading Atomic Habits by James Clear. He also relies on the Atoms app, which is based on the book’s principles, to help him develop better habits. “I believe small, consistent improvements lead to long-term success,” he says.

Final Thoughts

David Christie is more than just a home inspector—he’s a dedicated family man, a hardworking entrepreneur, and a passionate advocate for integrity in real estate. With a strong work ethic and an unwavering commitment to growth, he is well on his way to leaving a lasting impact on the Wichita community.

“I want to be remembered for my conviction,” he says. “At the end of the day, I want to know that I’ve built something meaningful—not just for myself, but for my family and the people I serve.”

Amber CARD

CROSSING NEW THRESHOLDS

PHOTOS BY KIM STIFFLER WRITTEN BY DAVE DANIELSON

For Amber Card, real estate is about creating a home, fostering relationships, and supporting military families like her own.

As a military spouse, Amber knows firsthand the challenges of relocating, finding stability, and making a house feel like a sanctuary ... in turn, crossing rewarding new thresholds.

Now, as a real estate professional with Platinum Realty, she's bringing that experience and empathy to every client she serves.

From Floral Designer to Real Estate Professional

Amber's journey to real estate wasn't traditional, but it was always in the back of her mind. She spent years as a floral designer and wedding coordinator, managing fast-paced, high-stress, and highly emotional events. The attention to detail required in those roles translates seamlessly into real estate, where every transaction is unique and deeply personal.

Her husband, Christopher, a pilot in the U.S. Air Force, was the one who encouraged her to finally take the leap. "You've always wanted to do real estate," he reminded her. With his support, she pursued her license and hasn't looked back since.

Navigating the Transition

Starting a new career in real estate was no small feat, especially given the many challenges that come with military life. Amber and her family have moved eight times in 17 years, living in seven different houses. Each time, her priority was settling her family before thinking about herself. But once she found her footing, she "plowed forward" into the world of real estate.

She quickly partnered with Victoria McBride, another military spouse, to co-list properties and support each other in the business. Their shared experiences allow them to uniquely serve military families, helping them navigate the complexities of relocating and finding a place to call home.

A Passion for Making a House Feel Like Home

Amber's background in horticulture from Mississippi State University gives her a unique perspective in real estate. She believes that a house isn't just a structure—it's a place where families should feel comfortable, safe, and inspired. Her ability to incorporate natural elements and attention to detail allows her to help clients see the full potential in a home.

“I like to help the house feel like a castle for people,” she says. Whether it’s staging a property, suggesting small improvements, or helping clients visualize a home’s possibilities, Amber brings her creative touch to every transaction.

The Drive to See Families Flourish

Helping military families is Amber’s true calling. She knows the sacrifices they make, the uncertainty they face, and the importance of having a solid foundation. “Watching a single military personnel or a family thrive is the greatest gift for me,” she shares. It’s not just about finding a house—it’s about ensuring that her clients have the stability they need to flourish.

Her approach is built on trust and relationships. “This industry is based on trust,” she says. “Finding the next client is key, but building that relationship is the most important part. Then, listening to find out what your client needs in the next chapter of their lives.”

Family, Food, and Giving Back

Despite the demands of her career, Amber’s family remains her top priority. She and Christopher have a daughter, Emma-Catherine, and a son, Christopher, Jr. They love grilling, entertaining, and traveling. She grew up in East Tennessee, where hospitality was a way of life, and she continues that tradition by hosting get-togethers at their home.

One of Amber’s core beliefs is that “most things can be discovered and fixed over the supper table.” Whether it’s a family decision or a challenge in business, she values open communication and problem-solving.

Amber is also dedicated to giving back. She’s a member of the Wichita Chamber of Commerce and Visit Wichita and volunteers with the Ronald McDonald House. She and her daughter make it a priority to give their time when they can, reinforcing the importance of community and service.

A Legacy of Resilience and Empathy

Amber wants to be remembered as someone who is both resilient and empathetic. “There’s something to be said about being able to hear all sides and figure out a solution for a situation,” she explains. She applies this mindset to both her personal and professional life, ensuring that her clients feel heard, valued, and supported.

Her definition of success isn’t tied to numbers or accolades. Instead, she sees it as a journey of resilience—adapting to challenges and making the best of every opportunity. “I view success as resiliency and let each adventure carve the path to success,” she says. It’s a philosophy that has guided her from childhood, when she built houses out of moss on the riverbank, to today, where she helps families build their futures.

Advice for Aspiring Agents

For those looking to enter the real estate industry, Amber’s advice is simple but profound: “Be yourself, find what makes you unique, and learn how to capitalize on it. Honesty and integrity will take you far, along with being in it for the people—not the paycheck.”

Congratulations to Amber Card. Day by day, her efforts lead to people crossing rewarding thresholds for the future.

“Be yourself, find what makes you unique, and learn how to capitalize on it. HONESTY & INTEGRITY will take you far, along with being in it for the people—not the paycheck.”

GOING ALL IN

The best way to make good things happen in life and business is through focused action. That's the spirit that is very much alive within Jessica Holle. Truly, she goes all in for those around her each day.

Since obtaining her real estate license in 2017, she has built a career based on integrity, hard work, and an unwavering commitment to the people she serves. Her journey into real estate started in 2013 after the birth of her daughter, combining her passion for client relations with her lifelong interest in real estate. Today, as an agent with Lange Real Estate, Jessica has established herself as a trusted professional, guiding her clients through some of the most significant decisions of their lives.

The Journey into Real Estate

Jessica's path into real estate was anything but conventional. With a background in client relations and contract negotiations, she spent years helping others build their businesses. However, she always had a deep interest in real estate and the connections that come with it. While working full-time in another position, she simultaneously pursued a career in real estate, balancing both until she could fully commit to the industry she loved.

Her ability to juggle multiple responsibilities while building a business from the ground up speaks volumes about her work ethic and dedication. In 2024 alone, Jessica closed over $14 million in sales volume, and her career sales volume has surpassed an impressive $61 million.

Why She Loves Real Estate

For Jessica, real estate is about more than just transactions—it's about people.

"By far, the thing I love the most is the people and creating relationships with them," she shares. "I've been really lucky that my business is almost exclusively built on referrals and repeat business. I feel very thankful."

Jessica understands that buying or selling a home is one of the most important financial decisions a person can make. Whether she's helping a family find their forever home, guiding a client through an investment purchase, or assisting someone during a challenging life transition, she approaches each situation with compassion and professionalism.

"What we do is very important. People's homes and investment properties are their largest investments, and I get to walk beside them during both joyous times and more difficult transitions. It's an honor to be a part of those moments."

Balancing Work and Family

Jessica and her husband, Jacob, have built a life deeply rooted in family and community. Jacob, a teacher in the Goddard school district, shares Jessica's commitment to their community and their children. Together, they have three children—Luke, Emma, and Blake—who keep them busy with sports and extracurricular activities.

"We love to support our children through their activities. We love to travel, preferably somewhere warm, and we spend our summers by the pool," she says.

Her ability to balance a thriving real estate career while being an involved mother and wife is a testament to her dedication and organizational skills. She is also deeply engaged in the local community, contributing to the school system in Goddard, volunteering with the PTO, and co-chairing a bond election.

A Heart for Giving and Community

Jessica's passion for real estate extends beyond her clients—it's about making a lasting impact on her community.

"Community is very important to me," she explains. "I serve clients all over the metro, but our home base is in Goddard. Giving back to the communities that have given so much to me and helped make me who I am is very important to me."

Her move to Lange Real Estate in the fall of 2024 was a strategic decision that aligned with her values. "They are very invested in the community, just like I am, and we share the same values," she says. "It's a great fit."

In addition to her real estate work, Jessica is studying to become a Broker, furthering her expertise and leadership in the industry.

Advice for Aspiring Agents

Having built a successful career in a competitive industry, Jessica understands the challenges that new agents face. Her advice? Stay persistent and focus on serving others.

"The first few years in the business require a lot of putting your head down and doing the work every single day," she advises. "When you feel discouraged, move forward by giving—do something for someone else. Donate your time and lead by giving. It's a very tough job, but also an extremely rewarding one."

Her approach to business is rooted in generosity and service, which has played a major role in her continued success.

Integrity and Lasting Impact

At the heart of Jessica's career is a foundation of faith, integrity, and generosity. She wants to be remembered as a woman who put her family, clients, and community first, always acting with honesty and a genuine desire to help others succeed.

"I want people to know that I am a woman of faith, someone who is generous and community-minded," she says. "Integrity is everything to me."

Whether she's helping a family find their dream home, supporting her children's activities, or working to improve her community, Jessica approaches every aspect of life with purpose and dedication ... going all in day by day.

ROLL CALL PAINTING

Transforming Spaces Through Collaboration

WRITTEN BY DAVE DANIELSON

When it comes to home improvement, few things make as big an impact as a fresh coat of paint. Whether it's enhancing curb appeal with a bold exterior color, refreshing outdated kitchen cabinets, or bringing new life to interior walls, painting is one of the most cost-effective ways to transform a home.

One Wichita-based company, Roll Call Painting, has been helping homeowners achieve their vision with quality craftsmanship and a seamless, customer-focused process. We sat down with Jefferson Thorne, the founder and owner of Roll Call Painting, to learn more about his journey, his team, and what sets his company apart in the industry.

A Family Legacy Turned Business Success

For Jefferson, painting is more than just a profession—it's a family tradition. Growing up in Wichita, he watched his father run a remodeling company, which sparked his entrepreneurial spirit. "That's how I got started," he recalls. "I used to work for him, and that's where I learned how to paint. Eventually, I wanted to start something on my own."

With a strong foundation in home renovation and a passion for business, Jefferson launched Roll Call Painting. His goal was simple: to provide a hands-off, hassle-free experience for homeowners while delivering high-quality results. Over the years, his dedication has paid off, and Roll Call Painting has built a reputation for professionalism, reliability, and outstanding workmanship.

A Team Built for Excellence

One of the things Jefferson loves most about his business is the teamwork and collaboration that goes into every project.

Roll Call Painting isn't just a one-man operation—it's a well-coordinated team effort. The company has a crew of 14 skilled painters, along with key team members who ensure a smooth process from start to finish.

Clayton, Project Coordinator – Jefferson's cousin, who oversees crew hiring, management, scheduling, and customer satisfaction.

Jaden, Project Advisor – Handles all residential estimates and helps homeowners plan their projects.

Ashley, Designer – Provides color consultations to help clients choose the perfect shades for their homes.

Christine, Administrative Coordinator – The friendly voice behind the phone, handling customer inquiries and scheduling appointments

A Seamless Process for Homeowners

Roll Call Painting prides itself on making the painting process as easy as possible for homeowners. "We like to provide a hands-off process, a quality result, and an experience that people enjoy," Jefferson explains. This means customers don't have to worry about moving heavy furniture or dealing with the stress of a complicated home improvement project. The Roll Call team takes care of everything, ensuring a smooth and efficient experience.

Q: Does painting brick increase or decrease curb appeal?

Jefferson: What we've seen is that painting brick can actually increase home value. A fresh coat of paint—whether on brick, siding, or even cabinetry—makes a big impact. Painting kitchen cabinets, for example, is a cost-effective way to refresh the heart of the home without the expense of a full remodel.

Q: What would you say to those who feel anxiety as they think about repainting their interior and moving a bunch of furniture?

Jefferson: We make it as seamless as possible. If there's furniture, we can move things around so the customers hardly have to touch anything. It's very collaborative, and we ensure that the homeowners are involved in every step.

Q: Can I get an online quote?

Jefferson: In the past, we've talked with clients over the phone and even looked at properties on Zillow to provide ballpark estimates. While an in-person assessment is always best, we do our best to provide accurate quotes remotely when needed.

More Than a Business – A Lifestyle

Outside of work, Jefferson enjoys spending time with his wife, Heidi, and their son, Jasper. "I love working out, traveling, and watching Jasper grow up," he shares. Reading is another passion, helping him stay informed and inspired both personally and professionally.

When asked what he hopes people take away from their experience with Roll Call Painting, Jefferson's answer is simple: "I hope people enjoy their time with our team, painters, and love the 'sigh of relief' that comes after an amazing transformation. Our goal is that we leave our customers with the feeling of 'Wow! What an outstanding service!'"

Bringing Your Vision to Life

Roll Call Painting is more than just a painting company—it's a team dedicated to making home improvement an enjoyable and stress-free experience. With a customer-first approach, high-quality craftsmanship, and a passionate team, Jefferson Thorne and his crew are helping homeowners in Wichita bring their visions to life.
