RECOGNITION & RESILIENCE

Dear Real Producers of Naples,

This month, we proudly celebrate the extraordinary professionals who were recognized at our November 14th Awards Gala. These standout leaders continue to shape the real estate landscape with innovation, dedication, and a commitment to excellence. In this issue, each honoree is featured on their own page, accompanied by photos capturing the excitement of the evening. It's our privilege to shine a well-deserved spotlight on those who consistently raise the bar in our industry.

As we close the chapter on another year and look ahead to what's next, one word comes to mind: resilience. These top producers didn't arrive at success by chance. They remain at the top because they continually evolve—refining winning strategies, embracing new approaches, and staying solution-focused no matter what challenges arise. Their achievements are a testament to the persistence and adaptability required not only to succeed, but to stay successful in a fast-changing market.

The turn of the calendar doesn't signal a pause for these high achievers—it marks a launch point. With renewed resolve and unstoppable momentum, they roll confidently into the year ahead, already laying the groundwork for even greater success.

There's inspiration here for all of us. As we transition into a new year, we can follow their lead: carry forward what worked well, fine-tune what needs improvement, and greet every opportunity with resilience and optimism.

From our team to yours, happy holidays! We wish you a joyful season, a strong finish to the year, and a fresh start filled with continued growth, well-earned recognition, and limitless possibility.

Here's to resilience, success, and a bright year ahead!

Very respectfully yours,

FROM THE DESK OF THE PRESIDENT

The Realities of Real Estate Success: Your Career, Our Voice

BY TIM WEISHEYER, 2025 PRESIDENT OF FLORIDA REALTORS®

Every day REALTORS® wake up and prepare themselves to meet the demands of the marketplace, navigating an ever-changing and dynamic real estate environment while helping buyers, sellers and consumers in general make one of their most important decisions in life. However, what many people, including real estate professionals, do not know or understand is that the marketplace they enjoy does not just exist. It is constantly protected, advocated for, created and even envisioned by one voice: the association of Realtors®. From city hall to the United States Congress, there is not one ordinance or piece of legislation, regulation or taxation that is not first reviewed, debated and contemplated by the most unified, strongest and impactful voice for real estate in the nation: Florida Realtors® and the National Association of Realtors®.

Below are just some of our most recent wins on your behalf in the United States Congress; the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (H.R. 1)—a sweeping tax package with enormous implications for real estate professionals and property owners. Because of National Association of Realtors®' advocacy—made possible by our unique three-way agreement among local, state, and national REALTOR® associations, this legislation delivers major wins for our industry and those we serve.

Major Wins for Real Estate

- 20% Qualified Business Income (QBI) Deduction Made Permanent
Scheduled to expire in 2025, this deduction remains the single largest tax break for most Realtors and other independent contractors.

- Lower Tax Rates & Expanded Credits Extended

The reduced tax rates, higher standard deduction, and larger child tax credit continue beyond 2025—helping households and strengthening demand for homeownership.

- SALT Deduction Relief

The state and local tax cap rises from $10,000 to $40,000 for tax years 2025–2029, giving many more homeowners federal tax benefits.

- Opportunity Zones Enhanced

Permanent extension and stronger incentives will spur investment and revitalization, including in rural communities.

- Estate and Gift Tax Threshold Locked at $15 Million

Family-owned real estate businesses can plan for the future without fear of steep estate taxes.

- Low-Income Housing Credits Expanded

A 12% increase in state allocations and lower bond-financing requirements are projected to create over a million affordable apartments in the next decade.

- 529 Education Savings

- Accounts Broadened

Realtors can now use these accounts for professional credentials and career training.

Just as Important: What We Kept Out

NAR's advocacy blocked proposals that would have harmed real estate:

- No changes to 1031 like-kind exchanges, a vital tool for economic growth.
- No weakening of the mortgage interest deduction.

- No increases in top individual tax rates or repeal of capital gains treatment on carried interests.

These victories did not happen by chance—they happened because Realtors support and protect your industry on the local, state and national levels every day by communicating with our elected officials the importance of our impact on the economy.

The Three-Way Agreement: Our Competitive Edge

The three-way agreement linking local, state, and national REALTOR® associations is more than a structure—it is our greatest strength. Local boards identify issues, state associations mobilize members and legislators, and NAR delivers a unified message to Congress.

When Washington debates sweeping tax reforms, every REALTOR®'s voice is heard—from the smallest market to the national stage.

Realtor Advocacy Matters

Without this partnership, harmful tax hikes and reduced homeownership incentives might have become law. Our REALTOR® organization stood united to protect property rights and strengthen the American Dream.

This is the value of membership. This is the power of the three-way agreement. And this is how REALTORS®—together—safeguard our profession and the communities we serve.

Tim Weisheyer, broker-owner of Dream Builders Realty and dbrCommercial Real Estate Services in Central Florida, serves as the 2025 president of Florida Realtors®.

Think Slow. Plan. Act Fast!

BY MICHAEL DILL

In business and in life, most people spend time rushing the wrong things.

They rush to act without a clear plan. They chase goals without defined steps. They feel pressure to move fast, so they skip the most important part of the process—thinking.

If you want to build something meaningful and scalable, here is the formula that works:

Think Slow. Plan. Act Fast.

Slow Thinking Leads to Smart Building

As entrepreneurs and leaders, we often get caught up in the energy of big dreams. We want results now. We want to go faster, grow bigger, and crush timelines.

But when I recently spoke with someone who said, “Coach, I want to take my five-year plan and execute it in 18 months,” I had to laugh.

Not because the ambition was wrong. But when I asked him, “Is this the unwritten five-year plan that’s all in your head that you want execute in 18 months you’re talking about?” When he replied yes, he also started to chuckle a bit.

This is where most people go wrong. They are trying to speed up what they have not even started. Running ahead without a clear path.

This process or lack thereof, simply doesn’t work!

Take the Time to Plan

If you want real results, you must take the time to get clear. That means getting crystal clear on your outcome and when you want to achieve it. And this employs the concept of thinking it through.

- Then work backwards. Map out:
- The priorities
 - The key goals
 - The strategies
 - The weekly action steps

Bring in accountability to make sure you are following through. Once that plan is in place, then it is time to move.

Move With Speed and Clarity

Once you know the path, stop waiting. Stop second guessing. Stop tweaking the plan endlessly.

Act fast!

Do something today to move the needle. Ask yourself, “What is one step I can take right now to get closer to my goal?”

Do not let the size of the goal overwhelm you. Shrink the goal down into chunks. Take your five-year goal and narrow it down to your three-year, followed by one-year, followed by your 90-day plan. Focus only on what needs to happen between now and then.

Stay consistent. Stay focused. Take action every single week.

Final Thoughts

Do not run before you know where you are going. And do not stay stuck in planning mode forever.

Think slow. Take the time to plan with precision. And when the time comes—move fast. Success favors the leaders who balance both.

The Vibration Advantage:

HARNESSING ENERGY
FOR INFLUENCE & IMPACT

BY CARLENE MARIE

Before you say a word, people already feel you. Your presence enters the room before your business card does. High performers know this instinctively; energy is contagious. It determines whether others lean in with trust or pull back with hesitation. In a competitive, fast-paced world, learning to manage your energy isn't optional. It's your advantage.

The late Dr. David Hawkins, in his research on the Map of Consciousness, revealed that emotions carry measurable frequencies. At the low end, shame vibrates at 20 and fear at 100, states that contract our energy and create resistance. Courage, at 200, is the tipping point where energy shifts from destructive to expansive. Higher still, acceptance (350), gratitude (540), and joy (540) resonate at the top of the scale, generating trust, openness, and flow. From fear to courage to gratitude, each rise in vibration changes the outcomes we create.

Carlene Marie is a Certified Master Mindpower Coach and Certified Health, Wellness & Life Coach. She specializes in private and group coaching, keynotes, workshops and publications helping high performers cultivate mental toughness and emotional resilience. With extensive expertise in unlocking human potential, Carlene Marie's programs empower and guide toward lasting change for optimal success in every area of life. CarleneMarie.com | 513.383.5647

Neuroscience affirms what Hawkins charted. Stress floods the body with cortisol, narrowing focus and signaling tension that others register, often unconsciously. Gratitude and calm, on the other hand, release oxytocin and dopamine, the chemistry of trust and bonding. As Einstein said, "Everything is energy and that's all there is to it." The science and the strategy both point to the same truth: your energy is the most powerful asset you bring into any room.

In business, the energy you carry is often the difference between flow and friction. The negotiation that stalls. You arrive rehearsing every counterpoint, your shoulders tight. The pressure you carry amplifies the tension in the room, and suddenly no one is moving forward.

The showing that falls flat. You walk in distracted from traffic and calls. Even with a smile, your restless state makes it harder for clients to imagine feeling "at home."

The meeting that drains. Yesterday's frustration lingers, and the team unconsciously absorbs it. Instead of creativity, the energy spirals downward.

Now imagine the alternatives. You pause before walking in. You reset with three breaths, choose calm confidence, and decide to listen more than you speak. The atmosphere shifts. Clients soften. Conversations expand. Deals flow instead of stall.

The Coaching Lens: Energy by Choice

As a coach, I remind high performers that energy is not an accident, it's a choice. You don't have to wait for circumstances to improve before you elevate your state. Intention comes first.

When you consciously manage your energy, you not only influence the people around you, you protect your own well-being. Wellness in this sense is the daily act of regulating your nervous system and choosing the vibration you want to carry into the room. As Tony Robbins often says, "Energy flows where attention goes." When you direct your focus, you direct your vibration and that becomes your advantage.

Four Tools to Raise Your Vibration

1. Reset at the Threshold: Before a meeting, pause for three slow breaths. Inhale calm. Exhale tension. This signals safety to your body and steadiness to others.
2. Set the Tone Intentionally: Ask yourself: "How do I want people to feel when they leave this conversation?" Then embody that state first.
3. Gratitude Shift: Write down one thing you appreciate before a call or showing. Gratitude instantly lifts your vibration and shifts brain chemistry toward openness.
4. Reflect Daily: At day's end, ask: "Where did I elevate the energy today? Where did I diminish it?" Awareness builds mastery.

Words persuade, but energy converts. People may forget your exact pitch, but they will never forget how your presence made them feel.

The vibration you bring into the room is your hidden advantage. High performers don't just manage deals; they manage energy. Every conversation, every negotiation, every showing is an exchange of vibration. The more conscious you are of the energy you bring, the more influence you have over the outcome.

Raising your vibration isn't about perfection, it's about intention. Each time you choose courage over fear, gratitude over stress, or joy over frustration, you rise higher on the scale and lift others with you. Because at the end of the day, your greatest tool isn't the pitch you perfect or the market stat you cite, it's the energy you embody. And the energy you choose truly shapes the results you create, in business and in life.

REALTOR OF THE YEAR

Realtor who has demonstrated overall excellence in all aspects of their profession, including sales, client service, community involvement, and industry leadership.

CAROLYN CLARK

Coldwell Banker Realty

Carolyn Clark exemplifies the essence of Realtor of the Year, seamlessly blending sales excellence, client service, community involvement, and industry leadership. Since entering the industry in late 2020, she has built a 100% referral-based business through her relentless commitment to service, closing over $35.7 million last year. Recognized among the 2024 Naples Top 100 agents and awarded Coldwell Banker's International President's Premier Circle (top 1% worldwide), Carolyn's achievements speak to her exceptional performance and client trust.

What sets Carolyn apart is her concierge-style approach. She personally attends every showing, ensuring buyers not only understand each home's features but fall in love with the lifestyle—golf memberships, restaurants, boating, beach clubs, and community amenities. Known for staging, repainting, and even changing light fixtures to maximize ROI, she treats every listing as a full-service project, demonstrating an unmatched dedication to client satisfaction.

LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

The highest honor, awarded to a Realtor who has made significant and lasting contributions to the real estate industry over the course of their 20+-year career, leaving a legacy of excellence and innovation.

DENNY GRIMES Keller Williams Realty

Denny Grimes embodies the spirit of the Lifetime Achievement Award, with a 40-plus-year career marked by innovation, leadership, and a lasting impact on the real estate industry. Beginning his real estate journey in 1983, Denny was a pioneer in Southwest Florida, introducing one of the region's earliest real estate team models in the early 1990s—long before teams became the industry standard. His forward-thinking approach, paired with an unwavering commitment to integrity, customer service, and excellence, set a new benchmark for how real estate could be practiced.

Denny's contributions extend beyond production. He built a legacy centered on systems, mentorship, client care, and professional development. He invested in tools like a moving truck, car service, client events, and community experiences—all designed to elevate service and redefine what Realtors could offer. His leadership nurtured future generations, including his daughter, Morgan Grimes, and second-generation agent Tony Erpenbeck, who now carry forward his legacy as listing specialists.

Today, Denny's impact is felt through his team's success, which has closed nearly 400 homes for $130 million in a single year. His passion for training, innovation, and empowering others has shaped the region's industry landscape, leaving a legacy that will influence Realtors for decades to come.

A Message of Gratitude from Your Headline Sponsor By Lauren Maxwell

What an incredible honor it has been to serve as the headline sponsor for this year's Real Producers' Awards Gala. Standing in a room filled with so much passion, talent, and dedication reminded me once again why our real estate community is truly exceptional.

To the entire Real Producers team, thank you.
