"YOUR 2ND YOU"

There's something special about businesses that are built to solve real-life problems — not just provide a service. That's exactly what Errand Angels LLC has become throughout the Fort Wayne community. What started as a cleaning company has evolved into something much bigger: a trusted support system for busy families, overwhelmed homeowners, real estate professionals, and anyone needing an extra set of hands in life's busiest seasons.

ERRAND ANGELS

led by owner and CEO Hailee Wallen, Errand Angels has built its reputation on reliability, care, and an understanding that sometimes the greatest gift you can give someone is simply more time. Their slogan — "Your 2nd You" — perfectly captures the heart behind the company's mission.

"We truly want clients to feel like they have someone they can rely on," Hailee says. "At the end of the day, we specialize in creating time and helping people feel less overwhelmed in their everyday lives."

In just three and a half years, Errand Angels has quickly become one of the most recognized concierge and cleaning companies in the region. The company was voted Platinum Winner for Best Home Cleaning Company in the 2024 Fort Wayne Community Votes awards, was nominated for the 2026 Fort Wayne Readers' Choice Awards, and also earned a nomination for the BBB Torch Award for Ethics — an honor that especially resonated with Hailee because of the company's strong emphasis on trust and integrity.

While many people initially associate Errand Angels with residential cleaning, their services go far beyond that. The company offers residential and commercial cleaning, organizing, grocery pickup and put-away, personal shopping, Airbnb turnovers, home resets, errands, and move-in/move-out services. Their ability to help clients manage the countless details of daily life is what has helped them stand out in a crowded industry.

"I think what sets us apart is that we focus on helping people beyond just cleaning," Hailee explains. "We understand that many clients are overwhelmed, busy, stressed, or simply need support.”

That mindset has also made Errand Angels an invaluable partner to the real estate community. The company works closely with agents, builders, and industry professionals across Northeast Indiana by providing listing preparation, deep cleans, post-construction cleaning, organizing services, move-in/move-out cleans, and last-minute touch-ups before photography or showings. Their attention to detail and responsiveness help agents present homes at their absolute best during critical moments in the selling process.

As proud members of the Home Builders Association of Fort Wayne, Errand Angels has also partnered with Granite Ridge Builders on new construction homes throughout the area — further solidifying their reputation as a trusted resource within the housing industry.

For Hailee, however, success has never simply been about

THE MOST REWARDING PART IS HEARING CLIENTS SAY
THEY FINALLY
FEEL RELIEF
AFTER WE HELP THEM.

growth or recognition. The most meaningful part of her role comes from the emotional impact the company has on its clients.

“The most rewarding part is hearing clients say they finally feel relief after we help them,” she shares. “Whether it’s preparing a home for sale, helping someone who feels overwhelmed, or giving busy families more time together, knowing we make people’s lives easier is incredibly fulfilling.”

That genuine care has become the foundation of the company’s culture and growth. Hailee credits consistency, authenticity, communication, and relationship-building as some of the biggest drivers behind Errand Angels’ success. In an industry where trust matters tremendously, those values have helped create lasting relationships throughout the Fort Wayne community.

“I believe clients can tell when a business truly values relationships, communication, and integrity,” Hailee says. “Being recognized through community awards and nominations has reinforced that we’re building something people trust.”

Even as the company continues to expand, the mission remains deeply personal. Hailee’s vision has always extended far beyond simply cleaning homes. She wants people to feel supported, cared for, and less burdened by the pressures of everyday life.

“My goal has always been bigger than cleaning homes,” she says. “It’s about helping people feel supported, less stressed, and more present in their daily lives.”

That perspective — combined with an unwavering commitment to service — is exactly why Errand Angels continues to resonate so strongly with clients across Fort Wayne. In a world where everyone seems to be searching for more time, more balance, and more peace of mind, Hailee Wallen and her team have built a business centered around giving people exactly that. ■

How many years have you been a real estate agent?
4 years

What is your career volume as an agent?
$5,810,900

What was your total volume last year?
$2,226,900

What awards have you achieved as an agent?

I haven't achieved any awards yet, but I did earn the multi-millions club distinction for sales within my office in both 2024 and 2025. Also, I was surprised and thrilled when I earned Top Agent for sales in my office for January of this year, 2026.

When did you start your career in real estate?

I became a REALTOR® in April 2022, but the first season of my career was really about learning, building confidence, and figuring out how to make room for this business in my life. I wasn't fully pursuing it at the level I knew it would require for growth just yet.

In the second half of 2023, I became much more intentional and really started putting things into motion. By 2024, I began seeing the results of that consistency, growth, and willingness to step more fully into the business.

What did you do before you became a REALTOR®?

Immediately before becoming a REALTOR®, I was a stay-at-home mom. Before that, my husband and I spent many years as Beachbody health coaches, and several years prior to that as wedding photographers. Looking back, each of those seasons helped shape the way I serve people today — with connection, encouragement, creativity, and care.

What are you passionate about right now in your business?

Right now, I'm most passionate about self-growth and continuing to become better in every part of my business. I love learning through real estate coaching, entrepreneurship, and business development resources, whether that's podcasts, YouTube videos, well I'm able to serve, guide, and advocate for my clients.

What has been the most rewarding part of your business?

The most rewarding part of this career has been

A memorable moment from our 10 year anniversary trip watching my own growth directly translate into a greater ability to serve my community. As I've challenged myself, stayed teachable, and stepped into things that felt intimidating, I've become better equipped to guide my clients through some of the most meaningful decisions of their lives.

Seeing the impact I've been blessed to make in their lives and futures is incredibly rewarding.

What has been your biggest challenge as a REALTOR®?

Without a doubt, my biggest challenge has been learning to get out of my own way. I had to recognize that my fear of failure — especially the fear of not having all the answers from the beginning — was holding me back.

Summer fun with our youngest!

When I let go of the illusion of perfection and became willing to “fail forward,” I gave myself permission to step into unfamiliar situations, learn as I go, and grow through the process. I've found that I can do that with grace and still serve my clients well. In fact, many of those stretching moments have led to the greatest growth for me and some of the biggest blessings for my clients.

How does real estate fit into your dreams and goals?

My husband and I have long-term dreams and goals that are very special to us, and we're still shaping what the path toward those dreams looks like. What I do know is that I truly love real estate and the people I get to serve through it.

This career has become more than a profession to me — it's a meaningful part of the life, relationships, and impact I hope to continue building for many years to come.

What's your favorite part of being a REALTOR®?

My favorite part of being a REALTOR® is the community of wonderful, like-minded people I get to work with, dream with, and grow with. I also love the way this career brings new people into my life while deepening the relationships I already have. At its heart, real estate is Celebrating a double-closing with clients who made one of the most complex transactions of my career so incredibly rewarding.

or conversations with people I admire.

For me, growth is exciting because it doesn't just benefit me — it directly impacts how about relationships, and that is what makes this work so meaningful to me.

Define success.

To me, success is being able to recognize growth in myself — from yesterday, last week, last season, or last year. It's not a single destination I'm trying to reach, but a continual journey of learning, developing, and becoming better. That kind of growth makes life richer, fuller, and more meaningful.

Tell us about your family.

Other than God himself, my family is the biggest source of my joy. I am very lucky to have found and married my husband when we were very young. God has been faithful to help us grow and learn and work and dream together, through the years. We very much enjoy each other, and we also really enjoy our kids. We have a 16-year-old daughter, a 13-year-old son, and a 9-year-old daughter. Our kids are all artistic and musical and driven and have very big hearts and sometimes outrageous senses of humor. We do a lot of laughing together as a family.

Are there any charities or organizations you support?

Destiny Rescue is an organization that has been dear to my heart for years. I have supported their mission in the past by helping raise awareness and funds, and I deeply respect the work they do to bring hope, protection, and freedom to vulnerable children. Their mission is one I'm honored to stand behind.

What are your hobbies and interests outside of the business?

I very much enjoy home decorating and organization, travel, and dance.

Given your status and expertise, what is some advice you would give the up-and-coming top producer?

Don't compare your starting point, your pace, or your path in this business to anyone else's. One of the best things you can do is stay teachable — always willing to learn from the people around you — while also staying true to who you are and how you serve.

Authenticity will shape your business style, and it's what your clients will connect with. I also believe strongly in maintaining an abundance mindset. Real estate can feel competitive, but the truth is, there is room for all of us to succeed. We are better when we support one another, learn from one another, and genuinely root for each other to win. 🏡

Making Every Moment Count

A.O. SHEEHE

There are some people who simply have a way of making others feel seen. Whether they're helping a client navigate one of the biggest decisions of their life, cheering on a fellow entrepreneur, or dancing to their favorite Dave Matthews song, they leave every room a little brighter than they found it. That's the kind of impact A.J. Sheehe has made throughout Northeast Indiana.

If you've spent any amount of time with A.J., you've probably noticed two things almost immediately. First, her contagious enthusiasm for life. Second, the random single hiccups that make an appearance throughout the day.

"It's just one of those things," she laughs. "I have single, uncontrollable hiccups all day, every day. If you're around me long enough, you'll definitely hear one."

That playful authenticity perfectly captures who A.J. is. She doesn't try to fit into a mold. She embraces who she is, pours her energy into the people around her, and approaches every opportunity with passion, curiosity, and gratitude.

As a second-generation real estate professional, licensed broker, interior designer, residential contractor, custom home builder, entrepreneur, and founder of the Groundhog Social Society, A.J. has built a career that reaches far beyond buying and selling homes. At its heart, though, everything she does comes back to one simple mission: helping people create lives they love. Real estate has always been personal for A.J. Long before she earned her license in 2015, she watched her mother serve clients with integrity and compassion.

"My mom was an agent," A.J. says. "She was 4-foot-11, mighty, and honest as they come. She had a way with people. She connected with every client and protected them throughout the process."

When she thinks about her mom, one word immediately comes to mind.

"Touchstone."

"She always left a lasting impression and created trust with everyone she worked with. She was my hero."

After losing her mother when she was just 32 years old, A.J. found herself reflecting on the example she had witnessed growing up. "It was shortly after she passed that I knew I wanted to continue her journey and help others with their own new adventures."

Today, that same servant-hearted approach is evident in every relationship she builds. A.J. has never been interested in simply selling houses. She wants to know what makes them beautiful, how they're built, what they could become—and, most importantly, how they can change the way people live.

Before real estate, there was design. As the owner and operator of Shee Designs, A.J. spent years transforming spaces through interior design and remodeling. She learned to see beyond what's there—to walk into a room and immediately imagine what's possible.

Then came real estate. And because doing just one thing has never really been A.J.'s style, she kept going.

Today, she's not only a real estate broker—she's also a licensed residential contractor and custom home builder with Hickory Creek Homes, owned by Keith Busse. That means she understands homes from just about every angle: how they're designed, how they're built, how they're transformed, and how they're bought and sold.

"Keith gave me the push to take this leap—and what a leap it has been. I get to help build amazing, beautiful homes that add something truly special to our community, alongside a team I'm incredibly proud to be part of. I feel so lucky!"

I get to help build amazing, beautiful homes that add something truly special to our community, alongside a team I'm incredibly proud to be part of. I feel so lucky!"

That drive has translated into consistent excellence. Over the past decade, A.J. has been recognized among the top-producing agents in the Fort Wayne market year after year while leading a successful team at Century 21 Bradley, Golden Fox Realty Group.

Yet accolades have never been what motivates her. “When your family knows they are first, foremost, and unconditionally loved, your work doesn’t feel like work, you leave lasting footprints with the people you walk beside, and you dance like nobody’s watching often—that’s success.”

That philosophy shapes the way she runs her business. Rather than chasing volume, A.J. intentionally focuses on relationships. “I personally control the process from start to finish,” she says.

“I’d rather have fewer transactions and focus on quality over quantity.”

She smiles when describing one of her favorite parts of the job. “I’m obsessed with the matchmaking opportunity. I love the challenge of finding the impossible unicorn.”

Whether helping a buyer discover the perfect home, designing a custom build from the ground up, or marketing an existing property, she enjoys solving puzzles and creating possibilities.

“The synergy between building new construction and the existing market allows me to offer every option to a buyer.”

That experience also extends beyond her own clients. “I love working with other agents to strengthen their knowledge of new construction and help them achieve the best outcome for their clients. It’s a win-win.”

Helping others grow has become one of the defining themes of A.J.’s career.

That same passion inspired one of her newest ventures—the Groundhog Social Society.

When your family knows they are first, foremost, and unconditionally loved, your work doesn’t feel like work, you leave lasting footprints with the people you walk beside, and you dance like nobody’s watching often—that’s success.”

Founded in 2025, the organization celebrates entrepreneurs, innovators, and dreamers who refuse to live the same day over and over.

Inspired by Phil the Groundhog, the organization recognizes individuals who took a chance on an idea, built a business, pursued a dream, and made a lasting impact on their communities.

For A.J., entrepreneurship isn't simply about building companies. It's about encouraging people to believe that they can write a different story.

That optimism extends into every area of her life.

When she's not serving clients, you'll likely find her doing one of several things she loves most: cheering on her children from the sidelines, playing cornhole with family, challenging friends to Pictionary, spending time with her dad over wings and drinks, fishing during sunset, cuddling her corgis Dave and Lola, or dancing at another Dave Matthews concert.

Music has always been part of who she is. In fact, becoming a grandmother recently created one more opportunity to weave Dave Matthews into her story.

Annakah and her husband Jacob welcomed baby Ambrose Reid into the world this summer, making A.J. a first-time grandmother. "I go by Granny," she says with a smile. "And yes... that's absolutely because it's one of my favorite Dave Matthews songs." These days, few things bring her greater joy than loving on baby Ambrose.

Watching her family grow has become one of life's greatest blessings. Her husband, Mark (Sparky), has been by her side for 24 years. "We're complete opposites, but somehow it works." One thing they do share is an endless collection of movie quotes. "We're constantly throwing cheesy movie lines back and forth while everyone around us has absolutely no idea what we're talking about."

Their children each bring something unique to the family. She beams when talking about Annakah, now a hairstylist at The BOB Salon and pursuing her own broker's license. "She's truly one of the best humans I know. I still can't believe I created her."

Then there's Atticus. "He has grit and determination like no other. If he sets his mind to something, it's getting done." He's also become the family's unofficial trivia expert. "He's constantly teaching me things I never really needed to know—but somehow I feel smarter afterward."

Youngest son Ari continues to impress her with his dedication on the baseball field.

"He excels at everything he does, but baseball is definitely where he shines. He's a leader, he's tough, and he has the biggest heart."

Perhaps what brings A.J. the most pride isn't simply their her family and friends, A.J. chooses to live intentionally.

Perhaps no quote captures her heart better than the words of Maya Angelou, which have become a guiding principle throughout her life. "People will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel." Spend even a few minutes with A.J. Sheehe and it's easy to understand why those words resonate so deeply. 🐿 accomplishments. "I love watching my boys become young men while somehow keeping their silliness. I pray that never leaves them." Likewise, seeing her daughter embrace motherhood has filled her heart. "Watching Annakah become the best mamma I know has been one of my greatest joys."

For someone constantly on the go, A.J. also knows exactly where she finds moments of peace.

Her version of paradise? "Put me somewhere by the water, with the hot sun, a Hailey Bieber smoothie from Erewhon in my hand, and Dave Matthews playing in the background."

She laughs. "It's not just any smoothie... it's heaven."

Anyone who knows A.J. knows she rarely sits still. "I think I'm too afraid to miss out on this thing called life." That outlook has become something of a personal philosophy. "Have passion in everything you do. Control your controllables. Be a good human. Follow your heart. Sleep when you're dead." It's a mindset that explains why she's always building, encouraging, celebrating, creating, and investing in the people around her.

RP THE REAL UPDATE

JON GOOD

Let's get real. This movement has caught fire. What movement am I referring to? The movement that you all know as Real Producers. Indianapolis was the starting point for a program that is now in over 140 markets across the country. That's a lot of traction in under ten years. As we grew, we knew that we wanted to brand ourselves the same across the board but never lost sight of the local mission.

This magazine has been successful because of its ability to connect top-producing agents with preferred partners and with each other. There are many other reasons that make it successful, but, at its core, that is what this is all about.

The vision is simple: We want to be a one-stop shop for top-producing agents in every market across the nation. How do we do that? In my opinion, three main groups of people stand to benefit from this monthly publication: the real estate agents featured, the partners that advertise and the publishers who produce the magazine.

What's in it for the agents? It is truly a badge of honor to receive the magazine. Being in the top 300 out of 1,500-plus agents is an accomplishment in itself. There are countless perks to being featured in the magazine, but one of my favorites is the element of humanizing a local legend in real estate.

What's in it for our partners? The struggle is real. How do we connect with influential, top-producing agents in our market? How do we cultivate relationships with this group? Our partners get constant exposure through the monthly magazine and the quarterly events. The hard work is done. Partners just need to show up!

What's in it for the publisher? Our publishers have the unique ability to connect with a group of people that is otherwise pretty difficult to get in front of. We are all busy building our own businesses. Our publishers are entrusted with featuring top agents, connecting our partners and producing quality content regularly.

Where do you fit in all this? It's simple. Connect us with people. Who should be on the next cover? What business is catering to agents at a high level? Who should be our next publisher to launch a Real Producers magazine in a new market?

Join the movement.

"I felt the move went great. Couldn't be happier. The crew you sent looked like they had been working together forever - very smooth and all very polite!"

Helping you Prosper

Reaching financial goals, especially buying a home, can be challenging without the right partner. That's why First Merchants makes a promise to all our clients: We'll work tirelessly to help you prosper. From flexible first-time homebuyer programs and down payment assistance to purchase and refinance solutions, our mortgage bankers provide personalized support to help you move forward with confidence at every stage of homeownership.

For more information, call 1.800.205.3464 or go to firstmerchants.com.

Before you call it a dead lead, call us.

Before you move on from a client, let's have a conversation.
Potential buyers that agents shouldn't give up on:

- Renters who think they need 20% down
- Veterans who may qualify for little to no down payment options
- Self-employed borrowers with non-traditional income
- Buyers with limited savings
- Buyers rebuilding credit after past challenges

Sometimes the difference between "not qualified" and "clear to close" starts with one phone call.

This is not a commitment to lend. Qualifications apply. See representative for details.

Let's connect.
